

Understanding the ZYTO reports

When your scan is complete, a report is generated that provides you and your practitioner with helpful information.

This report may provide insights that will prompt a closer look at your biological preference for nutritional supplements and services to help maintain your health and wellness.

Biological preference simply means those Virtual Items to which your body responds most coherently. Using this information, you and your practitioner can decide on a strategy developed specifically for you, based on your body's responses.

Does your body know what it wants?

Maybe you just need to ask!

How can I Learn More?

There are many different scans to choose from and your practitioner will be able to help select which is most appropriate for you. The best way to learn more is to make an appointment to get your scan. You can also get more information at ZYTO.com.

Biocommunication

What does your body need to stay healthy? Many people choose to take nutritional supplements but may guess as to what supplement will work best. Even though a supplement may work for someone else, how do you know it's providing the support you need at the present time?

To make better decisions about these and other health choices you should consider ZYTO biocommunication. Biocommunication is an exchange of information between a computer and your body; it's like the computer is asking questions and your body is answering them.

Here's how it works: The ZYTO software runs an energetic signature called a Virtual Item. Virtual Items are representative of physical items including nutritional supplements, body functions, and organs. As each item is run, your body's electrical response is measured and recorded. The way your body responds is energetic; it's called galvanic skin response or GSR. ZYTO software measures complex GSR patterns and determines shifts in your energetic posture.

These shifts, either negative or positive in relation to a baseline measurement, identify what is called your biological coherence. This information is used to make better decisions about your health.

The Biocommunication Revolution

Biocommunication represents a major breakthrough in gathering information. It's an effective and unique way to obtain important insights. This information can help your practitioner develop more effective and individualized strategies for you, saving time and money.

"Each person's uniqueness demands a personalized approach to their individual wellness needs. Using ZYTO technology to know a person's biological coherence helps me to understand a fuller picture. The ZYTO system does this in an affordable and highly cost-effective manner."

– W. Lee Cowden, MD, MD(H)

What Can I Expect From My Experience?

The interface between your body and ZYTO's biocommunication software is the ZYTO Hand Cradle. Simply rest your hand on the contacts while the computer gathers your GSR data. The scan takes a few minutes to complete and is safe for adults and children.
